

To whomsoever it may concern,

Respected Google Season of Docs Authorities,

I would like to bring to your information that the articles on the Macmetric/WindowsFish have been equally contributed by Utkarsh Agnihotri (aliased as Raj) along with me. We both worked upon the research and execution of the blogs/articles published on the respective website of the organizations with the alias Amish Raj.

I would like to point that I have had a great experience working with Utkarsh, he is well versed with the Technology Stack and is a good Technical Writer to work with.

Sincerely

Amish
